Direct Deposit Registration (EMP2443IS)

Fillable working copy, with a plain-language guide

READ THIS FIRST

This is a fillable working copy that captures everything the official EMP2443IS asks. It opens and fills on any phone, tablet or computer. It is NOT an official Government of Alberta form.

The official form is at cfr.forms.gov.ab.ca/form/EMP2443IS. It only opens in Adobe Acrobat Reader on a computer.

Before you send this copy, ask your worker: "Will you accept this working copy of EMP2443IS?" If they say no, ask them to email or mail you the official form.

This copy was rebuilt from the current official version, which prints its own number as EMP24431S Rev. 2026-08, with a figure 1 where the letter I should be. Downloaded from the government site on 18 October 2026.

What this form is for

This sets up or changes direct deposit, so that your AISH, ADAP or Income Support payment goes into your bank account instead of arriving as a cheque.

- Funds will be deposited in only ONE bank account. That is the form's own emphasis.
- You must tell the government right away if you change or close the account. The authorization says so.
- The form has an "For Office Use Only" block at the bottom for staff initials and dates. You do not fill that in.

The part that stops people: proving the account

You have two choices, in the form's own words:

> If you have a personalized cheque for your bank account send one with "VOID" written on the front (you do not need to get bank stamp or financial institution officer's signature).

> If you do not have a personalized cheque for your bank account take this form to where your account is located and have a financial institution officer sign and stamp to verify the above banking information. A bank form is also acceptable if it includes your name and your banking information.

That last sentence is the one worth remembering. Many people are told they must get the bank to stamp the government form. They do not. A bank's own direct deposit form with your name and banking information on it is accepted.

The three numbers you need

Branch number	Also called the transit number. Five digits. It is the first group on the bottom of a cheque.
Bank number	Also called the institution number. Three digits. It is the second group.
Account number	The last group, usually seven to twelve digits.

The official form prints a sample cheque on its back page with the letters A to F marking where each piece of information sits.

Financial institution officer signature

Date (yyyy-mm-dd)

Bank telephone number

Authorization

I authorize the Government of Alberta to make arrangements to deposit payments I received as part of my AISH, ADAP or Income Support benefits into the bank account shown above. I understand I must notify the Government of Alberta immediately if I change or close my account.

Account holder's signature

Date (yyyy-mm-dd)

Before you send this in

- Send a cheque marked VOID if you have one. It is the fastest route and needs no bank stamp.
- If you have no cheques, you do not have to get the government form stamped. Ask your bank for their own direct deposit form, as long as it shows your name and your banking information.
- Check the three numbers twice. A wrong transit or institution number is the usual reason a payment bounces back.
- Keep a copy, and note the date you sent it and who you sent it to.
- If you close or change the account later, tell them right away. The authorization you signed says you must.

Where this came from

Rebuilt by ADSB from the official EMP2443IS Rev. 2026-08, downloaded from https://cfr.forms.gov.ab.ca/form/EMP2443IS on 18 October 2026. The instructions, the authorization paragraph and the bank verification wording are the government's own. The guide pages are ADSB's.

> This is not an official Government of Alberta form. ADSB is not the Government of Alberta. Nothing here is legal advice.
