

The Engagement Page Record

A Forensic Timeline of alberta.ca/alberta-disability-assistance-program-engagement

---

Subject: The Government of Alberta's August–September 2025 Alberta Disability Assistance Program (ADAP) public engagement infrastructure, from August 13, 2025 through May 20, 2026.

Method: Primary-source forensic analysis of nine Wayback Machine snapshots of the dedicated alberta.ca engagement page, cross-referenced with PDF metadata of the official Discussion Guide and HTML metadata of the current live page.

Finding: The page that exists today is not the page that existed during engagement. It was rewritten from active engagement portal to retrospective archive within seven days of engagement closing, included an undocumented two-day change to the survey end date, was frozen unchanged for seven months through major legislative milestones, and has been suppressed from public archiving since April 12, 2026.

1. The Timeline at a Glance

The Wayback Machine has captured the URL alberta.ca/alberta-disability-assistance-program-engagement 14 times between August 13, 2025 and April 12, 2026, with 13 unique versions. Nine of these captures have been retrieved and analyzed for this record. The captures bracket the entire ADAP policy timeline from Discussion Guide release through Bill 12 passage and into the regulatory drafting period.

2. The Discussion Guide (Anchor Document)

The ADAP Discussion Guide is the source document that anchored the August–September 2025 public engagement. It was released in two formats — standard (small print) and large print — both hosted by the Government of Alberta at alberta.ca and both still publicly downloadable as of May 2026. The PDF internal metadata for both versions is reproduced verbatim below.

Standard (small print) version

/Author: Government of Alberta - Assisted Living and Social Services
/CreationDate: D:20250813094446-06'00'
/Creator: Adobe InDesign 20.0 (Windows)
/ModDate: D:20250813094512-06'00'
/Producer: Adobe PDF Library 17.0
/Title: Transforming Disability Income Assistance in Alberta Discussion Guide
Pages: 20
Filename: transforming-disability-income-assistance-discussion-guide-small-print.pdf

Large print version

/Author: Government of Alberta - Assisted Living and Social Services
/CreationDate: D:20250813104903-06'00'
/Creator: Adobe InDesign 20.0 (Windows)
/ModDate: D:20250813104938-06'00'
/Producer: Adobe PDF Library 17.0
/Title: Transforming Disability Income Assistance in Alberta Discussion Guide
Pages: 25
Filename: alss-transforming-disability-income-assistance-discussion-guide.pdf

Both versions were created in Adobe InDesign 20.0 on Windows on August 13, 2025 — the small-print version at 09:44:46 Mountain Time, the large-print version at 10:49:03 MT. The Discussion Guide is real, was created on the date it states, and was released by the Ministry of Assisted Living and Social Services. There is no question that the Discussion Guide is authentic.

The Discussion Guide's "How to Participate" section on page 4 specifies the engagement window:

"Online Survey your.alberta.ca/adap/surveys/public – The survey will be open until September 12, 2025."

"Written Submission – Written feedback can be submitted to ADAPEngagement@gov.ab.ca. We ask that written submissions be made no later than September 12, 2025."

The Discussion Guide is unambiguous: the survey will close September 12, 2025. Both windows close on the same date. The Discussion Guide does not mention any other date for survey closure.

3. The Active Engagement Page (August 13 – September 5, 2025)

Three Wayback Machine snapshots captured the engagement page in its active form during the engagement window:

- August 13, 2025 at 22:36:13 UTC — release-day capture
- August 14, 2025 at 00:48:17 UTC — next-day capture, content identical to Aug 13
- September 5, 2025 at 21:23:21 UTC — afternoon of the second town hall day

The active version of the page contained the following structural elements, preserved verbatim from the snapshots:

Page title and tagline

Alberta Disability Assistance Program engagement
Share your feedback to help shape the Alberta Disability Assistance Program (ADAP).

Status indicator order (Aug 13, Aug 14, Sep 5)

Open
Completed
Results under review

Overview section text

“Albertans with disabilities and the organizations that support them have said they want supports that meet their unique needs and abilities, rather than the one-size-fits-all approach currently offered by the Assured Income for the Severely Handicapped (AISH) program.

The Alberta Disability Assistance Program (ADAP) will be offered in addition to AISH and will empower Albertans with disabilities to pursue fulfilling job opportunities while continuing to receive the financial, medical and personal supports they need.

We want to hear from AISH clients, advocates, stakeholders and interested Albertans who want to help shape ADAP. We will be holding different types of engagements throughout August and into September.”

Note the tense: “We want to hear from...,” “We will be holding...” — present and future tense. This is an active call for participation.

"Get involved" section — the active engagement portal

The active version of the page contained a section titled “Get involved” with three subsections. This section does not exist on the current live page or on any post-September 12, 2025 snapshot.

Get involved

Help us shape the new program by taking part in the following engagement opportunities.
Review the ADAP Discussion Guide and/or videos and submit feedback using the channels below.

Survey

Take part in our survey from August 13 to September 12.

[Take the survey] ← live link to your.alberta.ca/adap/surveys/public

Telephone town halls

Two public telephone town halls will take place in early September to provide more information about ADAP and answer questions.

Dates and times will be posted on this webpage and on YourAlberta social media channels soon. (Aug 13 and 14 captures)

Two public town halls will take place to provide more information about ADAP and answer questions.

Thursday, September 4 at 6 pm

Friday, September 5 at 12 pm

To listen and submit questions: Join online or call in: 1-833-380-0691 (Sep 5 capture)

Written submissions

Review the ADAP Discussion Guide and/or videos and submit feedback to adapengagement@gov.ab.ca.

The deadline to submit written feedback is September 12.

Two material facts in the active version of the page:

- The survey end date was September 12, 2025. Identical to the Discussion Guide. Stated on all three active-version captures.
- The page provided active engagement infrastructure — a live “Take the survey” link to your.alberta.ca/adap/surveys/public, a submission email address, and (added by Sep 5) a town hall call-in number 1-833-380-0691.

4. The Rewrite (September 12–19, 2025)

The next Wayback Machine capture after September 5 is September 19, 2025 at 21:01:47 UTC — seven days after engagement closed. The page is no longer the page it was on September 5. The engagement portal has been replaced with a retrospective archive.

Between these two captures — September 5 at 21:23 UTC and September 19 at 21:01 UTC, a span of 13 days and 23 hours — the engagement page was substantially rewritten. The change was not a status update from “Open” to “Closed”; it was a structural and linguistic rebuild that removed the engagement portal and replaced it with a retrospective archive.

Engagement officially closed on September 12, 2025 per the Discussion Guide. The rewrite was complete by September 19, 2025. The rewrite window spans seven days of the post-engagement period.

5. The Frozen Retrospective Form (September 19, 2025 – April 12, 2026)

Six Wayback Machine snapshots captured the engagement page in its rewritten retrospective form between September 19, 2025 and April 12, 2026:

- September 19, 2025 at 21:01:47 UTC
- October 21, 2025 at 03:03:34 UTC (flagged as 3xx redirect)
- December 19, 2025 at 09:47:22 UTC
- December 25, 2025 at 03:28:34 UTC
- February 18, 2026 at 04:08:11 UTC
- April 12, 2026 at 11:39:48 UTC (the last public capture before the archive blackout)

Across these six captures spanning more than six months, the page's material content does not change. The same Overview text, the same "Input received" section, the same survey end date (September 14, 2025), the same town hall dates, the same Outcomes paragraph, and the same two-item News section appear in every capture.

Frozen Overview paragraph (verbatim from all six retrospective captures)

"Albertans with disabilities and the organizations that support them have said they want supports that meet their unique needs and abilities, rather than the one-size-fits-all approach currently offered by the Assured Income for the Severely Handicapped (AISH) program.

The Alberta Disability Assistance Program (ADAP) will be offered in addition to AISH and will empower Albertans with disabilities to pursue fulfilling job opportunities while continuing to receive the financial, medical and personal supports they need.

During telephone townhalls and roundtables held in September, an online survey and feedback form, we heard from AISH clients, advocates, stakeholders and interested Albertans who want to help shape ADAP."

Frozen "Input received" section (verbatim from all six retrospective captures)

Survey

Albertans shared feedback on ADAP through an online survey from August 13 to September 14, 2025. Results are currently under review.

Telephone town halls

Two public town halls took place to provide more information about ADAP and answer questions.
Thursday, September 4 at 6 pm
Friday, September 5 at 12 pm

Written submissions

Albertans provided written feedback on ADAP through September 12, 2025. Results are currently under review.

Outcomes

Your feedback, along with government direction, research, analysis and lessons learned, will help shape the Alberta Disability Assistance Program so that Albertans with disabilities can access supports that meet their unique needs and abilities.

This identical content appears on the September 19, 2025 capture and on the April 12, 2026 capture — a span of 206 days. Across the six captures in this period, the body text does not change.

The phrases “Results are currently under review” and “will help shape the Alberta Disability Assistance Program” are both stable across the entire 206-day window — covering the period during which the legislation those results were used for was tabled, passed, and operationally extended through provincial budget announcements.

The engagement page’s own internal “News” section — the section at the bottom of the page intended to list news releases related to the engagement — also remained frozen across all six retrospective captures. It lists only two items: “Transforming disability income support in Alberta” (Aug. 13, 2025) and “Empowering Albertans with disabilities” (Feb. 4, 2025). Bill 12 passing on December 9, 2025 was not added. The March 24, 2026 budget announcement was not added.

6. The Survey End Date Discrepancy

Among the changes made during the September 12–19, 2025 rewrite is one that warrants standalone documentation: the survey end date stated on the engagement page was changed from September 12 to September 14, 2025, without any public announcement located in the search of government communications channels.

The documented sequence

What this records

The survey end date stated on the engagement page changed between September 5, 2025 (where it read “September 12”) and September 19, 2025 (where it read “September 14, 2025”). The change happened during the same window in which the entire page was rewritten from active engagement portal to retrospective archive.

Two readings are documentable from the public record:

- The survey was actually extended by two days, from September 12 to September 14, 2025. This is plausible and consistent with normal engagement-process flexibility. However, the Alberta Disability System Breakdown campaign has not located any government communication (news release, social media post, email to mailing list, or other announcement) that publicly announced the extension between September 5 and September 12, 2025.

- The date on the page was retroactively edited after engagement closed to reflect a date different from what the page itself stated during engagement. The September 5 snapshot of the page captured during engagement reads “September 12.” The September 19 snapshot reads “September 14, 2025.” The Discussion Guide that anchored the engagement reads “September 12.”

Independent of which reading is accurate, the documentable fact is: the engagement page’s stated survey end date is inconsistent across time, and is inconsistent with the Discussion Guide on which the survey was based. The written feedback deadline, by contrast, remained September 12, 2025 in every snapshot.

Note: The Alberta Disability System Breakdown campaign welcomes any Government of Alberta record demonstrating that the survey extension was publicly announced between September 5 and September 12, 2025. If such a record exists, this section will be updated to reflect it.

7. The October 2, 2025 Republish Event

The current live version of the engagement page, fetched directly on May 19–20, 2026, carries HTML metadata in the page's `<head>` section identifying its publication date as October 2, 2025.

HTML metadata of today's live page

canonical: https://www.alberta.ca/alberta-disability-assistance-program-engagement meta-Generator: Drupal 10 (https://www.drupal.org)
meta-id: 9844
meta-template: Service
meta-page-type: Strategic

meta-published: 2025-10-02T10:47:38-0600
meta-last-modified: 2025-07-21T06:00:00-0600
meta-robots: noarchive

Visible "Last updated:" in page footer: July 21, 2025

Three observations about these metadata fields:

- meta-published is October 2, 2025. In Drupal's standard content type configuration, this field records when a content node was first made publicly visible. The value here postdates both the August 13, 2025 Wayback Machine capture of the page and the September 19, 2025 retrospective rewrite. The value indicates the current page node was first published (or republished) on October 2, 2025.
- meta-last-modified is July 21, 2025. This field predates the meta-published date by more than two months, predates the Discussion Guide release date by 23 days, and predates the actual content edits documented in this record (the September 12–19, 2025 rewrite) by nearly two months. The internally inconsistent timestamps indicate that the "last modified" field is not being updated as the page is edited.
- meta-robots is noarchive. The current live page carries an explicit directive to web crawlers not to archive the page. This is examined in Section 8.

Corroborating evidence: the October 21, 2025 redirect

Of the fourteen Wayback Machine captures of the engagement page URL, the October 21, 2025 capture at 03:03:34 UTC is flagged by the Wayback Machine calendar interface as a 3xx redirect (the calendar marker for that capture is green, with the legend reading "Green indicates redirects (3xx).")

October 21, 2025 falls 19 days after the meta-published date of October 2, 2025. A 3xx redirect on a URL that previously resolved with HTTP 200 and then resolves with HTTP 200 again in subsequent captures (December 19, December 25, etc.) is consistent with URL routing instability during a content management system reorganization. When a Drupal node is republished with a new internal node ID, prior URL aliases can break temporarily and return redirects until aliases are re-established.

Capture frequency pattern

The Wayback Machine's capture frequency around the October 2 republish event is itself informative:

| Period                                    | Wayback captures               | Status                                          |
|-------------------------------------------|--------------------------------|-------------------------------------------------|
| Aug 13 – Sep 5, 2025(engagement)      | 4 captures in 24 days          | All HTTP 200, active form                       |
| Sep 6 – Sep 19, 2025 (close +rewrite) | 1 capture (Sep 19)             | HTTP 200, retrospective form                    |
| Sep 20 – Oct 20, 2025                     | 0 captures                     | Period of zero Wayback indexing                 |
| Oct 21, 2025                       | 1 capture (redirect)    | 3xx redirect — URL routing unstable      |
| Oct 22 – Dec 18, 2025                     | 0 captures                     | Period of zero Wayback indexing                 |
| Dec 19 – Dec 25, 2025                     | 2 captures in 6 days           | Normal HTTP 200, retrospective form(stable) |
| Jan 1 – Apr 12, 2026                      | 2 captures (Feb 18, Apr12) | Sparse but stable                               |
| Apr 13, 2026 – today                      | 0 captures                     | Archive blackout (see Section 8)                |

The three months between September 20 and December 18, 2025 contain only one Wayback capture, and that capture was a redirect. The period brackets the meta-published date of October 2, 2025. The pattern is consistent with a content management system reorganization that disrupted normal page indexing for approximately three months.

8. The Archive Blackout (April 12, 2026 onward)

The most recent Wayback Machine capture of the engagement page URL is dated April 12, 2026 at 11:39:48 UTC. As of May 20, 2026 — 38 days later — no further captures appear in the public Wayback Machine archive for this URL.

The current live engagement page, fetched May 19–20, 2026, carries the following directive in its HTML `<head>`:

<meta name="robots" content="noarchive">

What "noarchive" means

The noarchive directive is part of the HTML `<meta name="robots">` specification. It instructs compliant web crawlers (including the Wayback Machine's ia_archiver and most major search engine crawlers) not to retain or display archived copies of the page. The Internet Archive's standard policy is to respect noarchive directives, including by suppressing the display of new and existing snapshots once the directive is detected.

The correlation between the directive's presence on the current live page and the absence of any Wayback captures after April 12, 2026 is consistent with the directive having been applied between April 12, 2026 and today. The Alberta Disability System Breakdown campaign does not have access to the Government of Alberta's Drupal admin logs and cannot establish the exact date the directive was added. What is documentable is that the directive is on the page today and that public archival captures stopped on April 12, 2026.

What the blackout means in practice

On May 12, 2026, the Government of Alberta announced the regulatory framework for ADAP (Order in Council, ADAP Fact Sheet, supplementary communications). The engagement page is the canonical public-facing record of the consultation that allegedly informed those regulations. Whether the engagement page was updated in response to the May 12, 2026 release — to add news items, to modify the Outcomes paragraph, to remove or change other content — cannot be determined from the public archive. Future modifications to the page can be made without leaving a Wayback Machine trail visible to the public.

Side note observed during research: the August 13, 2025 capture — the release-day capture — was retrievable through the Wayback Machine calendar interface during preliminary research, then returned a "Failed to fetch" error in the same interface during subsequent research. The snapshot content itself remains accessible by direct URL. The intermittent calendar-interface error is noted here in passing.

9. What This Documentation Shows — and What It Does Not

What this documentation shows

- The Discussion Guide that anchored the August–September 2025 engagement is real, was created on August 13, 2025 in two formats by the Government of Alberta’s Assisted Living and Social Services ministry, and the Discussion Guide’s authenticity is not in question.
- The dedicated engagement page existed on August 13, 2025 as an active engagement portal with a working “Take the survey” link and future-tense framing.
- The page was rewritten between September 5, 2025 (still active) and September 19, 2025 (already retrospective) — within seven days of the official engagement closure on September 12. The rewrite removed the “Get involved” section, removed the survey link, added an “Input received” retrospective section, and converted the page text to past tense.
- The page’s stated survey end date changed from September 12 (the Discussion Guide’s stated date, and the date shown on the page in all three active-version captures) to September 14, 2025 (the date shown on every retrospective-form capture and on today’s live page). The Alberta Disability System Breakdown campaign has not located a public announcement of this two-day extension.
- The retrospective version of the page remained materially unchanged across six captures spanning September 19, 2025 to April 12, 2026 — a period of 206 days — covering Bill 12 tabling, Bill 12 passing, the regulatory drafting period, and the $250M Budget 2026 employment supports announcement. None of these events are reflected on the engagement page in any retrospective-form capture.
- The page’s HTML metadata identifies October 2, 2025 as its publication date, indicating that the current page node was first published (or republished) on that date. The October 21, 2025 capture shows a 3xx redirect, consistent with URL routing instability during a content management system reorganization.
- Wayback Machine captures of the engagement page URL stopped on April 12, 2026. The current live page carries an explicit noarchive robots meta directive, consistent with the directive having been applied between April 12 and today. Any modifications to the page after April 12, 2026 are not visible in the public archive.

What this documentation does not show

- This documentation does not prove the Government of Alberta intended any of the documented changes to be deceptive. The pattern of changes is consistent with multiple explanations including ordinary post-engagement lifecycle transitions, content management system reorganization, and deliberate retrospective editing. The Alberta Disability System Breakdown campaign does not attribute intent.
- This documentation does not prove the survey was not actually extended by two days. The Alberta Disability System Breakdown campaign has not located a public announcement of the extension, but absence of evidence in the campaign’s research is not proof that no announcement was made. If the Government of Alberta publishes a record of the extension, this document will be updated.
- This documentation does not prove the engagement results are not under review. The page may accurately reflect an ongoing internal review process. The documentation establishes only that the “Results are currently under review” claim has been publicly stated for at least 206 days while legislation based on the results was tabled, passed, and operationally extended.

- This documentation does not prove anyone was deceived. Independent third-party publications cited the Discussion Guide and the engagement process accurately throughout the engagement window. The question is what the engagement page itself, as it appears today and as it appears in the historical Wayback Machine record, communicates about the consultation it documents.

Why this matters

The Government of Alberta's May 12, 2026 ADAP Fact Sheet states that ADAP was "thoughtfully designed based on input from Albertans with disabilities" and that "thousands of Albertans participated in engagement via roundtables, telephone town halls, written submissions and an online survey." The strength of those statements rests in part on the public discoverability and integrity of the engagement page that documents the consultation. This document records, on the public record, what that engagement page has shown and how it has changed.

10. How to Verify These Findings

The findings in this document are verifiable by anyone with internet access. The verification steps are documented below.

Verifying the Discussion Guide PDF metadata

- Download both PDFs from alberta.ca/system/files: the small-print version (transforming-disability-income-assistance-discussion-guide-small-print.pdf) and the large-print version (alss-transforming-disability-income-assistance-discussion-guide.pdf).
- Open each PDF in Adobe Acrobat Reader (free), Apple Preview, or any tool that displays PDF properties. View File > Properties (Acrobat) or Tools > Show Inspector (Preview).
- The Creation Dates should be August 13, 2025 09:44:46 MT (small print) and August 13, 2025 10:49:03 MT (large print). The Author field should read “Government of Alberta - Assisted Living and Social Services.”

Verifying the current live engagement page metadata

- Visit alberta.ca/alberta-disability-assistance-program-engagement in any web browser.
- Right-click the page (Windows/Linux) or Control-click (Mac) and select “View Page Source.”
- In the HTML `<head>` section, locate the `<meta>` tags with name attributes published, last-modified, and robots. The values should match Section 7 of this document.
- Scroll to the bottom of the rendered page and confirm the visible “Last updated:” date reads July 21, 2025.
- On the rendered page, locate the “Input received” section and confirm the Survey subsection text: “Albertans shared feedback on ADAP through an online survey from August 13 to September 14, 2025.”

Verifying the Wayback Machine snapshot record

- Visit web.archive.org in any web browser.
- In the Wayback Machine search bar, enter alberta.ca/alberta-disability-assistance-program-engagement and press Enter. The calendar view will display dots representing capture dates.
- Click into 2025. The dots on August 13, 14, 15, 20 and September 5, 19 and October 21 (green) and December 19, 25 should be visible.
- Click any dot to load the corresponding snapshot. Compare the snapshot content to the text excerpts in Sections 3 through 5 of this document.
- Switch to the 2026 calendar to confirm captures on February 18 and April 12, 2026, and the absence of captures after April 12, 2026.

11. Closing and Sources

Closing

This is a documentary record, not an allegation. The Discussion Guide is real. The engagement was a real event. The page that documents the engagement was rewritten within seven days of engagement closing, contains a survey end date inconsistent with the Discussion Guide and with the page's own active-form captures, was frozen unchanged for 206 days through major legislative milestones the engagement results were used for, was structurally republished in early October 2025 (with associated URL routing instability documented in the Wayback record), and has been suppressed from public archiving since April 12, 2026.

Whether the patterns documented here constitute a problem depends on what one believes a publicly engaged consultation process should look like, and on what additional records the Government of Alberta may publish in response. The record assembled here is offered as a verified primary-source foundation for that conversation.

This document is companion material to the broader Alberta Disability System Breakdown record on the May 12, 2026 ADAP regulations — specifically the “What Dropped This Week” information analysis (May 2026), Section 8 (Contestable Claims on the Public Record), Claim 5.
