This page summarizes disability support, housing, health, and travel rules for people considering relocation to this province. Amounts are approximate. Rules change. Always confirm directly with the provincial government before making any decisions.

DISABILITY SUPPORT PROGRAM -- QUEBEC

Program Name:	Programme de solidarite sociale (Social Solidarity)
Administered By:	Ministere de l'Emploi et de la Solidarite sociale (MESS)
Monthly Benefit:	Approximately $1,100-$1,300/month with supplements
Benefit Notes:	Base rate plus supplements for disability-related needs. Additional services provided through CLSCs (community health centres) across Quebec.
Employment Required?	NO -- Social Solidarity stream is specifically for persons with severely limited capacity for employment.
CDB Clawback?	NO -- Quebec does not claw back the federal Canada Disability Benefit from provincial disability recipients.
Re-Diagnosis Required?	Yes -- Quebec Social Solidarity requires its own assessment through MESS. Your Alberta documentation is supporting evidence.
Appeal Rights:	Administrative Tribunal of Quebec (TAQ) -- fully independent

HOUSING AND COST OF LIVING

Major Cities:	Montreal, Quebec City, Gatineau, Sherbrooke, Saguenay, Trois-Rivieres
Average 1BR Rent:	$1,200-$1,800/mo (Montreal) $900-$1,300 (other cities)
Rent Note:	Quebec remains more affordable than BC or Ontario. Rent control (lease assignment rights) provides strong tenant protections.
Rent Control?	Yes -- Quebec has strong tenant protections including lease assignment rights and Tribunal administratif du logement oversight.
Subsidized Waitlist:	HLM (social housing) waitlists are long in Montreal. Shorter in smaller cities. Expect 2-5 years in Montreal.
Social Housing:	HLM (social housing); rent supplement programs; Office municipal d'habitation in major cities.

HEALTH, MEDICAL, AND TRAVEL RULES

3-Month Health Gap:	Up to 3 months with no RAMQ coverage. Register with Regie de l'assurance maladie du Quebec on Day 1.
Health Coverage:	RAMQ (universal). Prescription drug insurance is mandatory in Quebec. CLSC network provides many community-based health and social services.
Medical Supplies:	Coverage available through RAMQ and CLSC programs. Quebec has a well-established community care network.
Transit/Paratransit:	STM (Montreal); RTC (Quebec City); paratransit available. Good urban transit in major centres.
Driver's License:	6 months (180 days) to exchange your Alberta license in Quebec. This is the longest window in Canada.
Vehicle Registration:	Register within 6 months of establishing Quebec residency.

BEFORE YOU APPLY -- IMPORTANT:

IMPORTANT: Services in Quebec are primarily in French. While English rights exist in some areas, most MESS interactions will be in French. Factor this into your planning before choosing Quebec.

YOUR RIGHTS UNDER THE CANADIAN CHARTER OF RIGHTS AND FREEDOMS

Plain Language Summary | Alberta Disability Refugee Series | April 2026

Free to Download - Free to Submit - Free to Share - Alberta 2026

The Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms is part of Canada's Constitution. It protects the rights of every person in Canada. Three sections apply directly to disabled Albertans being financially forced out of their province by the ADAP transition.

SECTION 6 -- MOBILITY RIGHTS: YOUR RIGHT TO MOVE

"Every citizen of Canada has the right to move to and take up residence in any province."

- You have a constitutional right to leave Alberta and move to any other province. No law can take that away.
- Other provinces can require a short residency period (usually 3 months) before you access local programs, but they cannot block you from arriving.
- The argument: When the ADAP transition leaves someone without enough money to pay for the move -- transport, first and last month rent, deposits -- it creates a financial barrier that effectively traps people. A right you cannot afford to use is a right being denied.
- Financial destitution caused by government policy can be argued as a violation of Section 6. This is part of why documenting your financial reality matters.

SECTION 7 -- LIFE, LIBERTY AND SECURITY OF THE PERSON

"Everyone has the right to life, liberty and security of the person."

- The Supreme Court of Canada has said Section 7 may protect against government actions that threaten your ability to survive -- including cutting income that covers food, shelter, and medication.
- If moving from AISH to ADAP causes serious physical or psychological harm because the income is no longer sufficient to live on, this may be a Section 7 violation.
- Section 7 also requires that when the government takes something from you, it must follow basic rules of fairness -- including the right to be heard and the right to appeal.
- Removing the independent Citizens Appeal Panel (Bill 12, December 2025) means 79,290 Albertans lost the right to challenge a decision that directly affects their survival. That is a direct challenge to the principles of fundamental justice.

SECTION 15 -- EQUALITY RIGHTS: NO DISCRIMINATION BASED ON DISABILITY

"Every individual is equal before and under the law ... without discrimination based on disability."

- Section 15 is the strongest equality protection for people with disabilities in Canadian law. It applies directly here.
- Creating a two-tier system that sorts disabled people by perceived capacity to work -- and gives those people fewer rights, less money, and no appeal -- may create a disadvantageous distinction based on disability type.
- The people most harmed are those with real, permanent, documented disabilities that do not fit the narrow exemption categories. Section 15 exists precisely to protect them.
- Advocates argue that the ADAP transition treats some disabled people as less worthy of stable support than others -- based entirely on a government assessment of employment potential. That is discrimination.

DAY 1 TO DAY 90 -- WHAT TO DO WHEN YOU ARRIVE

- Day 1: Apply for your new provincial health card. This starts the 3-month clock. Do not wait.
- Day 1: Begin searching for a family doctor. Doctor shortages are real -- start immediately. Ask about walk-in clinics as a bridge.
- Day 30: File your provincial disability application (PWD/ODSP/SAID depending on province). Bring all Alberta documentation.
- Day 60: Exchange your Alberta driver's license (60-90 day deadline in most provinces). After the deadline you are driving illegally.
- Day 90: Register your vehicle in the new province. Safety inspection required in BC and some others.
- Ongoing: Keep copies of everything. Document every interaction with every government office. Dates, names, reference numbers.

MY DISABILITY AND DAILY LIFE

Describe your disability and how it affects your daily life:

MY FINANCIAL REALITY

Describe your current financial situation and what the ADAP transition means for you:

MY HOUSING SITUATION

Describe your current housing and what relocation would mean for you:

MY DEPENDENTS AND SUPPORT NETWORK

Describe any dependents or others who would be affected:

JULY 1, 2026 -- 82 DAYS FROM DATE OF PUBLICATION

The Province of Alberta is eliminating adequate disability supports for 79,290 Albertans.
I am one of them. I am writing to you because I may have no other option.

STEP 1 -- YOUR AISH INFORMATION

You may leave your name blank to submit anonymously.

Your Full Name (or leave blank to remain anonymous):

Number of years you have been on AISH:

e.g. 10

Your AISH File Number (for government verification):

e.g. 1234567 -- on your AISH correspondence

STEP 2 -- YOUR NOTICE (PRE-WRITTEN -- DO NOT EDIT)

My name is [see above]. I am a Canadian citizen living in Alberta with a permanent disability. I have been receiving Assured Income for the Severely Handicapped (AISH) for the number of years indicated above. My disability is permanent, documented, and has been assessed by the Government of Alberta as substantially and permanently limiting my ability to earn a livelihood. I am writing to the Government of Quebec because the Province of Alberta is forcing me out. Please refer to my personal impact statement for full details.

This notice engages Sections 6, 7, and 15 of the Canadian Charter of Rights and Freedoms.

STEP 3 -- MY TRANSPORTATION SITUATION (CHECK ALL THAT APPLY)

I have a vehicle and may be able to relocate if I can afford the costs.

I do not have a vehicle. There are no affordable interprovincial buses. I do not know how I would get there.

I have dependents who would travel with me -- children or a family member who also relies on supports.

I have medical equipment, mobility aids, or prescriptions that make relocation complex and costly.

If ADAP proceeds as planned and I am unable to sustain myself in Alberta,
I will arrive in your province with nothing.

No savings. No employment history. No local support network. A disability assessed as permanent.
