TAX TIME, MARCH 1 TO APRIL 30: WHY FILING YOUR 2026 TAXES MATTERS, EVEN WITH NO INCOME

- Your benefits run on your tax return. The Canada Disability Benefit, child tax (Canada Child Benefit), the Alberta Child and Family Benefit, the Groceries and Essentials Benefit and, for seniors, the Guaranteed Income Supplement are all worked out from it. If you don't file, they can stop in July.
- When to start: your tax slips for 2026 income and benefits should arrive by the end of February. Wait until you have them all.
- Deadline: April 30, 2027. Self-employed: June 15, but any balance owing is still due April 30.
- Free help: free tax clinics run every spring for people with a modest income. Ask at your local library or community centre.

How we worked out the dates

- No 2027 payment schedule had been published when we made this (October 29, 2026). Each date follows the pattern the program has used. We tested our method against all 70 dates the governments published for 2025 and 2026, and it matched every one.
- AISH, ADAP and Income Support: Alberta says direct deposits arrive "4 business days before the first of the month." Cheques are mailed 6 business days before. The January payment comes around December 22.
- CPP and OAS: the third-last working day of the month (count back from the last working day), and December 22 in December. Canada Disability Benefit: the third Thursday of each month. Alberta Seniors Benefit: the fifth-last working day of the month, and December 17 in December.
- Canada Child Benefit: the 20th, or the business day before. In December it comes earlier. Alberta Child and Family Benefit: the 27th of February, May, August and November. Groceries and Essentials Benefit: the 5th of January, April, July and October.
- When a holiday made the date unclear (like Easter Monday, March 29), we listed the later possible date, so you are never counting on money before it can arrive.
- Canada.ca says federal payments can take a few days to reach your account, and to wait 5 to 10 business days before calling. We will post the official dates as soon as each government publishes them.
